JACKSON HALL LEWIS

JUL 7, 1919 - OCT 24, 2014

Jackson H. Lewis died, at home, on October 24th, 2014, at the age of 95. Jack was born in Greenville, SC. on July 7, 1919. He attended the University of Georgia, and was a member of the Chi Phi fraternity. He was a flight instructor during WW II, and a captain with Eastern Airlines for 37 years. Jack loved flying, sailing, skiing, travel, and building projects. He is survived by his wife, Mary Lou; daughters Leslie Battle (Michael), Helen Lewis, Hillary Bennett (Patrick), granddaughters Bailey Battle and Taylor Murray. A memorial service will be held at Granada Presbyterian Church in Coral Gables on Saturday, November 22nd at 3:00pm. A reception will follow at the Biscayne Bay Yacht Club. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Granada Presbyterian Church or to Bascom Palmer Eye Institute.

Mary Lou, I guess Jack and Dad are up there together now; do you think they're boating, or playing motorcycle polo? Whichever, I expect they're keeping things lively. You're in our prayers up here in Maryland.--David, Gail, and Lilli Hoehl

One of the last times I got to talk to Jack and Mary Lou, I coaxed out of him once again that wonderful story about how they met there on a dock in Miami. Jack always tells that "boating affair" story with relish and a twinkle in his eye, particularly the part about, "...Do you like boats? Well, come on aboard and look around...and sign my guest book." Maybe we can coax MLL into retelling the whole episode for our enjoyment!
