Grandma I can't believe that it's been 4 Years since being hugged by you. I miss you dearly. Your laugh. Your smile. Your soothing advice that everything is going to be okay. I simply just miss you. So much.

Mummy...Mummy...Mummy... my heart is breaking. I wanted to hold onto you forever and never let you go. I can hardly imagine life without you. But God had other plans for you, and decided to take you Home. But through my tears and pain, there are moments that I can smile, and even laugh as I reflect on wonderful memories and the strong and precious bond we had. I feel your love surrounding me and that feeling gives me comfort. You didn't give us a lot, but rather, you gave us ...EVERYTHING unconditionally. I will now repeat the last words I said to you, and you to me... "I love you.... I love you.... I love you..." To Sharon and family: My heart and prayers are with you and your family during this time, and the coming months and years. I read the wonderful things her children had to say about "Mommy", especially how your friends and your children friends felt welcome in her home, and at her table. Without personally knowing her, I wished I had the opportunity to have known her, because mother's who love her own, and embrace other people children, are the most special mom's in the world! You all are so bless to have had her as your mom. O###imported-begin##Oretha Houser###imported-end##

To my dear aunt Daisy Maud: I am saddened at your passing and miss you dearly. I will always hold so many fond and cherished memories of you. I never really got to tell you this the way that I would have liked to, but thank you profoundly for your constant love and kindness to me. Thank you also for the caring advice and counsel you have given me over the years, your mischievous and irrepressible sense of humour, which has sustained me in many a despairing moment and your indomitable fighting spirit and determination, which has taught me to be strong. You are and will continue to be an inspiration to us all. I will always love and remember you. May god the most merciful welcome you into paradise and grant you eternal rest. May god the most compassionate also comfort my cousins Jean, Homer, Winsome, Jasset, Sharon and Steve, through their grief.###imported-begin##Leonard Dimsdale###imported-end##

A Mother never dies. She lives as long as her children remember all the love and kindness and care she gave them throughout her life. No matter how old or sick, it is never easy to be a motherless child. Have faith! You will meet again -- i promise you.###imported-begin##Catherine D. Sell###imported-end##

In times like these I offer my words of condolences to you and your family, knowing that they may do little to fill the void. But I offer my prayers also, knowing that the God of comfort will give you and your family the strength, spirit and hope you need to make it through it all. He has promised this.
