And so I say, no one can reflect the Father more perfectly than His son. A father of honor and integrity has qualities few son's are able to grasp. Jay Patel had qualities that his only son can reflect and share, as his father once did, with the world. Tejas, Jay's son, has always demonstrated special qualities and a kind gentle demeanor - characteristic of a man raised with faith and honor in a loving family unit. Jay was so proud of his son from the moment he was born and Tejas continued to make his father proud everyday of his life! The two of them shared a special connection unmatched by any other for the father also made his son very proud and whole. To be taken from us all too soon. Perhaps Jay's work was done on this earth. Raising his only son as he did with such passion could not have been perfected any further. He did his job well and his time had come to move on. In peace Jay will rest - as he has been blessed with a son to carry on in his name. My hope and prayers are with Tejas and his family - to find peace of mind and keep love in their hearts, for someday soon - Tejas will have a son ( JJ perhaps) and a new chapter in the Patel history books will take beautiful form once again. Jay's passion for life, love and family will carry on now & forever.
